Dr Ram and Dr shyam are both dentists with 5 years seniority differences in experience. But as per the financial statement Dr shyam earns more Profits than Dr Ram . Dr Ram does all the work in his clinic from consulting to RCTs and also crown and bridges to impactions . He has got more inflow of patients. On an average monthly input is 100 patients.

Dr shyam is 5 years junior to Dr Ram in clinical experience but he is a smart practitioner. He knows the only way to earn better is to focus on the 20% of treatments which gives 80% of money ,so he does mainly implant treatments and Orthodontic treatments. Rest all the treatments he delegate to other specialists.

Dr Ram don't have a team and his belief system is

- Others will not work better than him.
- Why to part with the money he earns as a consultant fees?
- So he does everything himself because he doesn't trust anyone and does not spend time to go for any course because he fears he will lose patients in his absence for pursuing a course.
- Difficult to spend money for courses because of his fixed expenses are high on staff salary, rental etc...
- Fear of leaving his clinic and go, fear of heavy emi and loans..

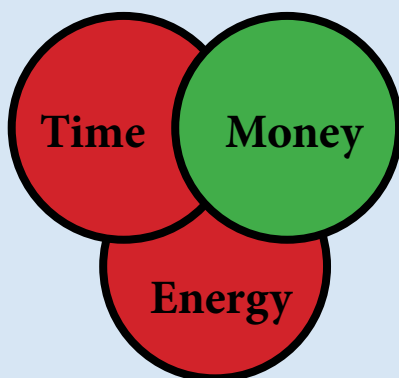

Let see Dr Shyam

- As told above Dr Shyam learned implants and orthodontics though he is a BDS at the earlier stage of his career and started focusing mainly in this two treatment areas.
- Rest all the cases like Rct,crowns and dentures he delegate to specialist friends.
- So he had enough time to learn, update his knowledge and so he was having 80% results in his collections even if his total patient inflow is only 50/ month
- So if you see their financial statements Dr shyam is earning more profits by doing smart work .He is earning more total collection by doing Implants and full mouth implant cases which gives bulk money.
- Whereas Dr Ram is seeing more patients and also earning the same what Dr Shyam earns.But he is getting little money from more patients.

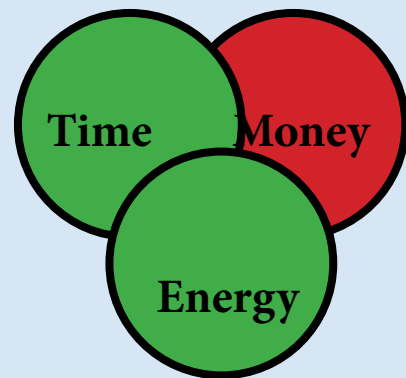

Dr Ram spends More Energy and More time for Money. (2 loss 1 gain)
Dr Shyam spends little Money and earns more time and more energy.
(1loss 2 gain)

so

So Dr Ram finally realised this Working smarter than working harder is important. So when he attended our practice management boot camp he was taught to work on his Personality and attitude. His beliefs changed and he started a new team immediately in his clinic which does all the 80% general practice works better than Dr ram himself...Dr Ram started to focus on Implant work and Fixed Orthodontics in his clinic. Also he started getting time to think about Marketing, Sales strategies and Practice management strategies.

He regularly attends all the Courses and updates his knowledge and thereby increase his profits considerably. In this New journey he got lot of excitement and energy. He started now to earn more and was very happy than before.
